JUDGE KING'S PROPOSAL TO BE REPORTED

Clermont County Delegate Protests Against Delay.

Look To Gaynor

MAY BE SLIGHTLY AMENDED

Provides For Submission of License Clause in Ohio's New Constitution. President Bigelow Wins Fight to Have Initiative and Referendum Differences Threshed Out in Caucus of Its Friends — Takes Floor and Explains Position on Question.

Columbus, O., Feb. 9. — Judge King's license proposal, which has the support of the wet forces, possibly only slight amendment, will be reported to the constitutional convention Monday night by the traffic committee. Judge King heard the proposal had been before the committee for three weeks, nothing had been done. He suggested that it be brought before the convention for debate as soon as possible.

Delegates Winn of Defiance and Wright of Franklin objected, declaring the method was unfair and that the report was a discourtesy to the convention and an insult to the delegates. At the suggestion of Dr. Fessenden, the committee agreed to meet Monday afternoon to further consider the proposal and perhaps to incorporate amendments.

BIGELOW FORCES WIN

Will Hold Caucus to Draft I. and R. Proposal For Constitution. Columbus, O., Feb. 9. — By a vote of 45 to 43, the constitutional convention laid on the table the resolution of Mr. Halfhill of Allen county, opposing the plan of President Bigelow to hold a caucus of progressives on the initiative and referendum. The vote came after President Bigelow had addressed the convention, telling his plan and his reasons for proposing the plan.

Mr. Bigelow is not bound to consider the I. and R. as a jury weighs evidence. "I do not come to this convention with an open mind, but with a high commission from the people to enact, if possible, the initiative and referendum into a workable law. I now have the signed consent of a majority of this convention, who are committed to that plan to confer and resolve the various points of detail that exist between us. Then, having some to an agreement, we hope to put the measure through this convention. To adopt any other measure would be like leading a raw army into battle against the power of a carefully equipped opposition, which we know is sure to develop." The convention voted down a resolution of Eugene V. Debs to adjourn the body.

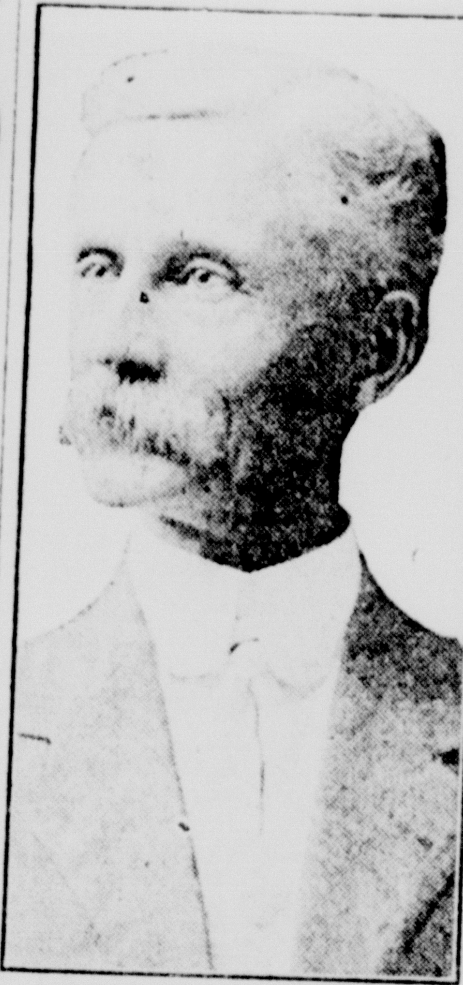

Jilted The Wrong Girl

Youth Sent to Hospital With Acid-Burned Face.

New York, Feb. 9. — William Kaufman, a cutter in a shirtwaist factory, taken to Bellevue hospital with right eye blinded and his face, neck and hand badly burned by acid. In the same ambulance with him went Frieda Levenson, 19, a factory girl. The girl was badly burned on the face and neck from the acid. She was taken from the factory, charged by Kaufman with having hurled the acid at him, and was taken to the hospital. The doctor was dressing the wounds of both, the girl upbraided Kaufman for not marrying her, "as she would."

ALEXANDER DUNN

Clermont County Delegate to Constitutional Convention.

Nephew Plays in Luck.

New York, Feb. 9. — Fred Crandall of his city, once the favorite nephew of the late Edwin Hawley, railroad magnate, but latterly said to have incurred his uncle's displeasure because of his marriage to a young Southern Pacific telegraph operator, will receive $2,500,000 as his share of the estate, it is said, because Hawley left no will.

SCHWAB TELLS OF HIS PLANS

Will Quit Steel Business if Tariff is Reduced.

APPEARS BEFORE COMMITTEE

Declares He Is All Alone in the World and Has No One to Whom He Can Leave Holdings in Bethlehem Concern, Which Does Annual Business of $35,000,000 and Which He Built Up by Years of Toil—Says Labor Conditions Exaggerated.

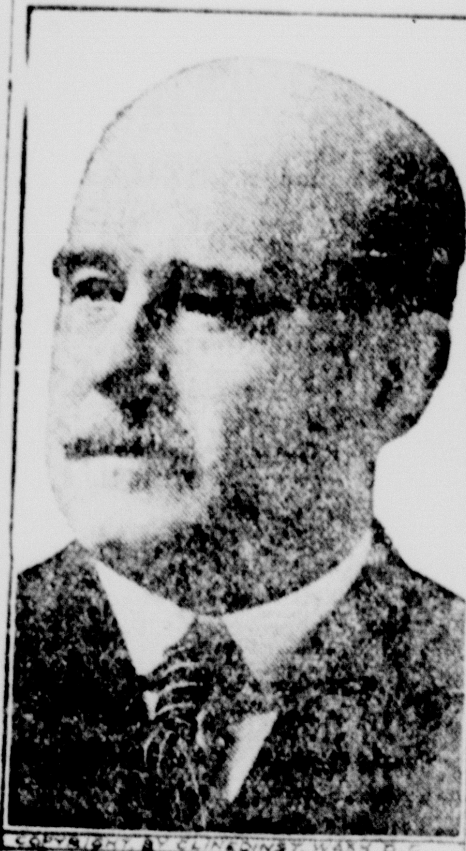

Washington, Feb. 9. — Charles M. Schwab, the steel manufacturer, speaking with every evidence of sincerity and in a manner that strongly impressed his hearers, told the senate committee on finance that if the Underwood bill reducing the tariff on steel became a law, he would sell out his interest in the Bethlehem Steel company and retire.

"I have put my entire fortune, representing years of toil, in the steel business," said Mr. Schwab, "our plant is the largest in the east, doing a business of $37,000,000 a year. We are declaring no dividends, but are putting all our profits back into the business. I am alone in the world. I have no heir to leave this business to and my only interest is in building up a good plant and keeping it going, but if you gentlemen in congress pass this Underwood bill, I will sell my stock and retire from the steel business forever."

Mr. Schwab appeared before the committee voluntarily and was on the stand about three hours. He went into all the details of the steel industry in answer to questions from members of the committee. Labor conditions appeared to be the phase that interested the members of the committee most. Mr. Schwab described them in detail and said they were not half as bad as they had been painted.

TAFT'S MANAGER

Representative McKinley Will Hustle For Delegates.

Taft Selects His Manager

Representative McKinley Will Look After Taft's Interests.

Washington, Feb. 9. — Representative William B. McKinley of Illinois, who for the last four years has been chairman of the Republican congressional committee, will run Taft's pre-convention campaign. This announcement was made authoritatively. It was said that Taft headquarters would be opened in Washington within a few days and that an aggressive campaign in the interest of the president will be waged from now on.

MANCHU NOBLES PREVENT PEACE

Insist Upon Retention of Their Hereditary Titles.

REPUBLICANS REFUSE DEMAND

Insurgents, After Fierce Battle, Send Chang Hsun's Troops Scrambling Northward and Occupy City of Hsu-Chow-Fu—Amazonians to Number of 300 Are Important Factor in Bloody Conflict and Many Are Counted Among the Dead.

Shanghai, Feb. 9. — The dispute over the hereditary titles is the only question which now prevents a settlement of the abdication of the throne and the passing out of the Manchus from the rule of China. This and this alone prevents a settlement. The nobles are insisting that these titles remain hereditary. The republicans absolutely refuse to agree to this.

The republicans occupied Hsu-Chow-Fu, the town where a large body of Chang Hsun's troops were in a strong position. Chang Hsun and his troops are in full retreat. They are headed for the north. The imperial troops suffered severely in the battle which preceded the occupation of the town by the republican forces, which are large.

Chang Hsun now declares his adherence to the republic. He has sent envoys to the republicans at Nanking to treat for conditions of surrender.

It is stated here that a corps of 200 amazonians were engaged in the previous battle between the republicans and the imperialists. Many of the women were killed.

DISSATISFACTION GROWS AND MEXICAN REVOLT IS SPREADING RAPIDLY

Madero's Regime Threatened On All Sides.

Washington, Feb. 9. — Many disorders in Mexican towns which have hitherto been quiet were reported to the state department. The most alarming situation is reported at Santa Rosalia, where 1,500 insurgents are under arms and threatening deeds of lawlessness. At Parras, employees of the Madero establishments have gone on strike. These men are threatening violence if their demands are not granted.

The rapid increase in the centers of disaffection is causing considerable apprehension at Mexico City. Reports received at the state department indicate that the whole attention of the government is being concentrated upon the disordered state of the country and disension has already appeared among the leaders as to the proper course to be pursued. Opposition to President Madero has openly appeared both within the administration and without.

REFUSES GOVERNORSHIP

Orozco Declares His Loyalty to President Madero.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 9. — Pasqual Orozco refused the governorship of Chihuahua after the state legislature had selected him, but he protests his loyalty to Madero and is said to have declined the governorship partially because the state legislature declined to endorse Madero, also because he believed the constitutional governor, Abram Gonzales, should first be given a chance to restore order, or at least have some say in the matter.

Orozco is sending troops into the country west of Chihuahua to attempt to disperse the bands of armed men in the field in the name of Vasquez Gomez.

The United States customs officers in El Paso received a telegram from Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury, stating that the state department had given authority for Mexican federal troops to come through United States territory from Eagle Pass to Juarez. The soldiers' arms will be taken from them at Eagle Pass and transported in a baggage car to El Paso.

Moore Has Talk With Teddy

Tells Him That Money Trust Is Hard On His Trail.

New York, Feb. 9. — Theodore Roosevelt told A. P. Moore, editor of the Pittsburg Leader, that he would stick to the progressives to the finish. Mr. Moore is the original Roosevelt for 1912 boomer. He started in on the job early last fall, quit for a time after the colonel wrote to him that in his opinion his nomination would be a "canalinity," and then began again with renewed vigor after a talk with Colonel Roosevelt not long ago. According to Mr. Moore the colonel said:

"I don't believe that even my bitterest enemies will say that I was ever a deserter. You can say to the progressives that I will not desert the cause, and that they will find me fighting side by side with them to the finish."

He made this statement, Editor Moore said, after hearing from him that the "money trust" was trying to scare off Roosevelt delegates to the convention. Mr. Moore said that he had informed Mr. Roosevelt that the progressives had found that in certain places prospective progressive delegates had been told by banks to which they owed money that they must not stand for Roosevelt or any other progressive candidate. If they wanted to be delegates they must be for Taft. To talk this plan the progressives, according to Mr. Moore's statement, have decided that no man is to be a delegate who owes money to the banks.

Sixty-five Buried in Mine. Amador City, Cal., Feb. 8. — Sixty-five men were imprisoned in a cave-in at the Bunker Hill mine, two miles north of here. The men are uninjured and will be rescued today.

Why Butter Is Higher

Market Cornered by Oleo Men to Boost Sale of Own Product.

Green Bay, Wis., Feb. 9. — In a paper read before the Wisconsin Buttermakers' association, Thomas Cornellison, a government expert, said that it appeared the oleomargarine manufacturers have been working an injury to the buttermakers, in that large quantities of butter had been purchased by the oleo men, put in storage and then the market flooded with oleo.

The shortage in the butter market caused by the large purchases, it is claimed, has forced up the price of butter and in that way increased the sale of oleo until a time when the output has been nearly depleted.

Morse Reaches New York.

New York, Feb. 9. — Charles W. Morse returned to New York from Atlanta, Ga., where he has been held a United States prisoner since January, 1910. He was accompanied by Mrs. Morse, Harry F. Morse, his son, and Dr. A. L. Fowler of Atlanta, his physician.

Royal Pair Arrested.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 9. — The Baron von Holstein Rathlow, who claims this title as the son of Count Hans Rathlow of Odor, Denmark, and his wife, are in the El Paso county jail charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, through selling beauty lotions.

Famous Gainsborough Which Mr. Morgan Will Bring to America

THE announcement that the collections of J. Pierpont Morgan now housed in London—or, at any rate, a large part of them—are to be brought to this country and placed on exhibition in the Metropolitan museum in New York is of the greatest moment to art lovers in the United States. The value of the paintings, jewels, bronzes, porcelain etc., in question is variously estimated at from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Look To Gaynor

Tammany May Decide to Enter Mayor In Presidential Race.

New York, Feb. 9. — Mayor Gaynor's name was in no wise mentioned in connection with the White House at the second "tariff reform dinner" of the National Democratic club, but there was plenty of men present who said they could read into what the mayor himself said and the manner in which he was greeted that Tammany Hall had taken advantage of the affair to demonstrate two things—that it doesn't intend to support the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson and that, all signs being auspicious, it does propose at the right time to put itself behind the mayor of New York.

Little Girl Murdered.

Grand Island, Neb., Feb. 9. The body of Goldie Williams, 10, was found in a vacant house. It was covered with quicklime. The little girl disappeared Tuesday evening in company with a peddler, about 40 years old, a stranger here.

Will Seize Tainted Grain Shipped by Grain Dealers

TO ENFORCE PURE FOOD LAW

Pure Food Commissioner Dr. Wiley Issues Warning to Shippers of Decaying or Damaged Grain and Will Prosecute Violators Under Pure Food Laws.

Shipping damaged grain will no longer be tolerated by Dr. Wiley, pure food commissioner, and a warning has been issued to that effect in a circular received by local grain dealers.

In some instances the Pure Food Commission has condemned and burned entire car loads of grain, and will enforce the laws more rigidly than ever in the future. This will probably mean that damaged grain will be greatly cut in price beginning with this year.

The circular just issued says: "Pure food law applies to grain. Dr. Wiley is the pure food commissioner. He says he will enforce it. He can seize and confiscate any interstate grain which is misbranded or unfit for food for man or beast, unless it is so marked and shipped to distillers or for export. This will revolutionize the handling of tainted grain. Many innocent buyers will suffer serious losses unless they discriminate. There will be a very limited demand for rotten grain, as only distillers can use it. Exporters would hardly dare to ship it abroad. Every country elevator will need a corn drier. The enforcement of the law should be suspended for this season, except in extreme cases. Give the farmers, dealers and millers a chance to arrange for the change.

"Dealers and millers have been spoiling the farmers. They have been paying high prices for poor grain. They have encouraged careless farming. Farmers have used poor seed and secured poor results. Dr. Wiley says there is too much spoiled grain being used as food for animals. He has accomplished much in protecting the people against impositions on human food. He has been endorsed in his work. He has been watching the grain business for over a year, aided by many expert assistants. He has seized some grain. Delegates from the different exchanges called on him this week to find out what to expect. He says he is going to strictly enforce the pure food law on all interstate grain. He does not wish to be unreasonable, but means business.

"Dr. Wiley says sale of sulphurized oats must stop. They are regarded as an adulteration and a violation of the pure food laws. "He says grain must not be misbranded. Grain invoiced as a certain grade or quality must turn out that grade. If it does not the grain is subject to confiscation and the shipper to prosecution. Official certificate is not a sufficient excuse. "He says grain unfit for human or animal food can be sold only to distillers or for export. Farmers can use it at home. His rulings apply only on grain going from one state to another or interstate traffic. "Council of grain exchange's committee reports: The danger of handling grain that is in process of heating which has deteriorated to such an extent as to become harmful to man or beast. Dr. Wiley and his associates hold it to be unlawful to ship in interstate commerce, corn that has been decomposed as a result of heating reaching such a point of disintegration as to be injurious to man or beast; and holds that such corn shipped in interstate commerce can be seized and confiscated by the government, and legal proceedings be instituted against the shipper thereof, unless such grain is specifically designated and branded, "not to be used for feeding purposes." The committee received the impression that the government would not interfere with the shipment of such damaged corn when such corn is to be used for distilling or sold for export."

Sudden Death Of Robert McCoy

Shocking news came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. McCoy in Bloomingburg early this morning, when the wires brought the tragic news of the death of their son, Robt. McCoy, in Middletown.

Only last week Mrs. W. J. McCoy fell on the ice and fractured her hip. Mrs. Robert McCoy came over from Middletown to be with her, leaving her husband apparently in his usual health. Two days later she was summoned home by telephone, her husband having been taken violently ill and typhoid fever feared. After her return Mrs. McCoy wrote to her mother-in-law that the trouble was not typhoid fever and she did not think serious.

Yesterday she wrote again that Mr. McCoy had been operated on and was very ill. This morning followed the distressing news of his death.

Mr. McCoy has been in the drug business in Middletown and had many warm friends there as well as in his home village. He leaves a wife, no children.

Coming so soon after Mrs. McCoy's accident and while she is still suffering greatly, the son's death is doubly hard, and Mr. and Mrs. McCoy have the deepest sympathy of the community.

Library Trustees Have Organized

The first meeting of the new Public Library board was held in the trustees room at the library Thursday night.

After the swearing in of the three trustees of Mayor Smith's recent appointment, Col. B. H. Millikan and Miss Florence Ustick, who were re-appointed, and Mr. O. J. Mobley, a new member, the trustees organized as follows: President, O. J. Mobley; secretary, G. H. Hitchcock; treasurer, B. H. Millikan.

The president appointed the following committees: Building and Grounds committee—Col. Millikan, Dr. W. E. Ireland and Miss Ustick.

Finance committee—O. J. Mobley, Col. Millikan, G. H. Hitchcock. Book committee—Miss Gardner, Miss Ustick, O. J. Mobley, G. H. Hitchcock.

The librarian's report for the first month of 1912 was highly gratifying. During January 2852 books were in circulation, the largest number taken out in one month since the founding of the library.

The public library is becoming more and more a factor in the educational life of our town. Not alone is there increasing patronage, but a growing demand for books of information, books of travel, science and biography, and those which handle the up-to-date problems in sociology, ethics and economics.

Bonds Not Sold Not Even Offered

Springfield and Chillicothe reports are that $300,000 in bonds and stock of the Springfield & Washington Traction line, have been disposed of to farmers along the proposed line between South Charleston and this city, but as a matter of fact the bonds have not yet been offered for sale.

This last statement is correct, as Mr. Geo. W. Baker, owner of the road stated Friday morning when asked about the matter.

Mr. Baker also stated that within the next two or three days something definite would probably develop in connection with the stock and bonds, and as soon as sold, preparations will commence immediately to build as quickly as weather will permit.

Will Seize Tainted Grain Shipped by Grain Dealers

TO ENFORCE PURE FOOD LAW

Pure Food Commissioner Dr. Wiley Issues Warning to Shippers of Decaying or Damaged Grain and Will Prosecute Violators Under Pure Food Laws.

Shipping damaged grain will no longer be tolerated by Dr. Wiley, pure food commissioner, and a warning has been issued to that effect in a circular received by local grain dealers.

In some instances the Pure Food Commission has condemned and burned entire car loads of grain, and will enforce the laws more rigidly than ever in the future. This will probably mean that damaged grain will be greatly cut in price beginning with this year.

The circular just issued says: "Pure food law applies to grain. Dr. Wiley is the pure food commissioner. He says he will enforce it. He can seize and confiscate any interstate grain which is misbranded or unfit for food for man or beast, unless it is so marked and shipped to distillers or for export. This will revolutionize the handling of tainted grain. Many innocent buyers will suffer serious losses unless they discriminate. There will be a very limited demand for rotten grain, as only distillers can use it. Exporters would hardly dare to ship it abroad. Every country elevator will need a corn drier. The enforcement of the law should be suspended for this season, except in extreme cases. Give the farmers, dealers and millers a chance to arrange for the change.

"Dealers and millers have been spoiling the farmers. They have been paying high prices for poor grain. They have encouraged careless farming. Farmers have used poor seed and secured poor results. Dr. Wiley says there is too much spoiled grain being used as food for animals. He has accomplished much in protecting the people against impositions on human food. He has been endorsed in his work. He has been watching the grain business for over a year, aided by many expert assistants. He has seized some grain. Delegates from the different exchanges called on him this week to find out what to expect. He says he is going to strictly enforce the pure food law on all interstate grain. He does not wish to be unreasonable, but means business.

"Dr. Wiley says sale of sulphurized oats must stop. They are regarded as an adulteration and a violation of the pure food laws.

"He says grain must not be misbranded. Grain invoiced as a certain grade or quality must turn out that grade. If it does not the grain is subject to confiscation and the shipper to prosecution. Official certificate is not a sufficient excuse.

"He says grain unfit for human or animal food can be sold only to distillers or for export. Farmers can use it at home. His rulings apply only on grain going from one state to another or interstate traffic.

"Council of grain exchange's committee reports: The danger of handling corn that is in process of heating which has deteriorated to such an extent as to become harmful to man or beast. Dr. Wiley and his associates hold it to be unlawful to ship in interstate commerce, corn that has been decomposed as a result of heating reaching such a point of disintegration as to be injurious to man or beast; and holds that such corn shipped in interstate commerce can be seized and confiscated by the government, and legal proceedings be instituted against the shipper thereof, unless such grain is specifically designated and branded, "not to be used for feeding purposes." The committee received the impression that the government would not interfere with the shipment of such damaged corn when such corn is to be used for distilling or sold for export."

Sudden Death Of Robert McCoy

Shocking news came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. McCoy in Bloomingburg early this morning, when the wires brought the tragic news of the death of their son, Robt. McCoy, in Middletown.

Only last week Mrs. W. J. McCoy fell on the ice and fractured her hip. Mrs. Robert McCoy came over from Middletown to be with her, leaving her husband apparently in his usual health. Two days later she was summoned home by telephone, her husband having been taken violently ill and typhoid fever feared. After her return Mrs. McCoy wrote to her mother-in-law that the trouble was not typhoid fever and she did not think serious.

Yesterday she wrote again that Mr. McCoy had been operated on and was very ill. This morning followed the distressing news of his death.

Mr. McCoy has been in the drug business in Middletown and had many warm friends there as well as in his home village. He leaves a wife, no children.

Coming so soon after Mrs. McCoy's accident and while she is still suffering greatly, the son's death is doubly hard, and Mr. and Mrs. McCoy have the deepest sympathy of the community.

IN SOCIETY

Go to Holdren's for up-to-date postal photo and folders. Now located on Main street opposite Court House.

Embracing in its interest the three cities of Chillicothe, Circleville and Washington C. H., was the wedding of Mr. Willard Frost Story, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Howard, of Chillicothe, celebrated brilliantly at half past six o'clock Wednesday evening at St. Joseph's Episcopal church in Circleville.

The officiating minister was Rev. Mr. Zimmerman and the best man, Dr. W. Dixon Fullerton, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Frank Jones Bennett was matron of honor, wearing her own wedding gown of heavy white satin and carrying Killarney roses.

The bride, who is petite and fair and very lovely, was charmingly gown in white hand-embroidered crepe de chene, made en traine, its simple lines quite suited to her dainty girlishness. She wore a long bridal veil of tulle and a chaplet of orange blossoms which held it in place. Her bouquet was an exquisite shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

After the nuptial service, the impressive ring ceremony being used, a wedding supper was served at the Howard home, about forty guests being present. They included the near relatives and a small coterie of the bride's most intimate friends.

The decorations in the home were in keeping with the entire appointments of the event and consisted of greenery and Killarney roses effectively arranged in bouquets about the apartments.

To evade their merry-making friends Mr. and Mrs. Story left in an automobile and boarded at a distant point the 10-09 traction car, leaving Columbus later for an eastern honeymoon trip. They did not reveal their destination nor the length of their stay.

Mrs. Story wore away a chic coat suit of blue broad-cloth with hat and other accessories to correspond.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Story will go to Washington C. H., a residence. Mr. Story manages his father's large farm in Fayette county and while they have not definitely decided upon their plans for the future, they expect to spend the greater part of their time in Washington when they secure a desirable house there, with occasional visits to the farm property where Mr. W. A. Story recently erected a handsome residence.

The engagement and marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Story have interested many friends in the home towns of both. Mr. Story graduated from the local high school in 1904 and later attended for several years the Sheffield Scientific school. His rare good fortune in winning such a charming bride has brought forth many congratulations.

"Mrs. Story's exquisite type of beauty has made her much admired wherever she has gone and in the younger society set in Circleville she has been a reigning belle for several seasons."

Mr. and Mrs. David Marine entertained with a greatly enjoyed turkey dinner at their hospitable home on the Creek road Thursday. Their guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Tasso Post, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Post, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, Mr. and Mrs. James Marine, Mrs. Alice Parrett, Miss Young and Mr. Elton Marine.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. May are visiting relatives in New Holland.

Boy Bound Over For Using Gun

Chester Chrisman, a young man from the New Martinsburg vicinity is confined in the county jail under $200 bond, charged with carrying concealed weapons, and having been bound over from Justice J. D. Fealey's court, of Jasper township.

The boy is charged with wilfully killing a watch dog owned by Wallace Binegar, west of New Martinsburg. According to the claim from the neighborhood, the dog was not vicious and there was no just reason for the animal being shot. Mr. Binegar filed an affidavit against the lad charging him with carrying concealed weapons and he was bound over accordingly.

Chrisman is the son of George Chrisman, and is about 16 years of age. He is said to be a boy of very good habits.

Fire Department Makes Another Run

About one o'clock Friday afternoon the fire department made a run to the extreme end of Temple street in Blueville, to the residence of Chas. Keaton, where a small blaze in the kitchen caused an alarm to be turned in.

As the fire had not gained much foothold it was extinguished with buckets of water before the department reached the scene. Sparks from a flue are supposed to have started the blaze. The damage was very small.

AT THE EMPIRE.

The musical play by DeKoven and Herbert, entitled "The Beauty Spot," which appears at the Empire tonight is said to be a production above the average, its music being of a higher order bordering closely on the comic opera style.

The cast is headed by that sterling actor and comedian, Frank Deshon, formerly star of "Miss Bob White" and "The Office Boy", whose strength lines not altogether in the material furnished him by the authors but what he interjects into the piece from his own personality. His role of the giddy old Russian General is characteristic, his makeup being highly ludicrous and mirth-provoking.

Mr. Deshon is ably supported by a company of well known people. The two scenes are said to be handsome, unique in idea and beautiful to the eye.

Will Devote Entire Time to Architecture

Mr. J. H. Hicks, the local architect who for the last four years has been connected with J. S. Williams in the business of architects and builders of Washington C. H., announces that having severed his connections with Mr. Williams, he is now devoting his entire time to the architectural profession as he did before coming to Washington C. H. and is now in a position to give his clients his unbiased opinion and undivided attention.

The architectural profession is a distinct business and should not in any way be connected with the building business.

Mr. Hicks will continue his business in the same location as before in the Dennis building across Main St. from the Court House, and will be glad to welcome his old friends as well as new ones there.

Non-Freezing Solutions For Automobiles.

The autoist, in the selection of a non-freezing solution must consider two things—the ability of the solution to withstand cold and the action of the solution upon the delicate parts of the radiator. We recommend Denatured Alcohol, as it has no corrosive action upon the metals it comes in contact with and its ability to withstand cold is as follows:

20 per cent. solution freezes at about 10 degrees above zero
30 per cent. solution freezes at about 5 degrees below zero
40 per cent. solution freezes at about 20 degrees below zero
50 per cent. solution freezes at about 35 degrees below zero

IN SOCIETY

Go to Holden's for up-to-date postal photo and folders. Now located on Main street opposite Court House.

Embracing in its interest the three cities of Chillicothe, Circleville and Washington C. H., was the wedding of Mr. Willard Frost Story, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Story of Chillicothe, and Miss Hazel Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Howard, of Circleville, celebrated brilliantly at half past six o'clock Wednesday evening at St. Joseph's Episcopal church in Circleville.

The officiating minister was Rev. Mr. Zimmerman and the best man, Dr. W. Dixon Fullerton, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Frank Jones Bennett was matron of honor, wearing her own wedding gown of heavy white satin and carrying Killarney roses.

The bride, who is petite and fair and very lovely, was charmingly gowned in white hand-embroidered crepe de chene, made en traine, its simple lines quite suited to her dainty girlishness. She wore a long bridal veil of tulle and a chaplet of orange blossoms which held it in place. Her bouquet was an exquisite shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

After the nuptial service, the impressive ring ceremony being used, a wedding supper was served at the Howard home, about forty guests being present. They included the near relatives and a small coterie of the bride's most intimate friends.

The decorations in the home were in keeping with the entire appointments of the event and consisted of greenery and Killarney roses effectively arranged in bouquets about the apartments.

To evade their merry-making friends Mr. and Mrs. Story left in an automobile and boarded at a distant point the 10:09 traction car, leaving Columbus later for an eastern honeymoon trip. They did not reveal their destination nor the length of their stay.

Mrs. Story wore away a chic coat suit of blue broad-cloth with hat and other accessories to correspond.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Story will go to Washington C. H., to reside. Mr. Story manages his father's large farm in Fayette county and while they have not definitely decided upon their plans for the future they expect to spend the greater part of their time in Washington when they secure a desirable house there, with occasional visits to the farm property where Mr. W. A. Story recently erected a handsome residence.

The engagement and marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Story have interested many friends in the home towns of both. Mr. Story graduated from the local high school in 1904 and later attended for several years the Sheffield Scientific school. His rare good fortune in winning such a charming bride has brought forth many congratulations.

Mrs. Story's exquisite type of beauty has made her much admired wherever she has gone and in the younger society set in Circleville she has been a reigning belle for several seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. David Marine entertained with a greatly enjoyed turkey dinner at their hospitable home on the Creek road Thursday. Their guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Tasso Post, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Post, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, Mr. and Mrs. James Marine, Mrs. Alice Parrett, Miss Young and Mr. Elton Marine.

MRS. IONE BRYANT UNDERGOES OPERATION.

Mrs. Ione Bryant underwent a serious operation at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, Thursday.

About two weeks ago Mrs. Bryant was taken ill at her home in Middletown, Ill., and her son, John, went out to bring her back to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Mayer, here. There was no improvement and on Tuesday Mrs. Bryant was taken to the hospital and it was decided to operate Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayer went to Columbus Thursday morning to be with Mrs. Bryant during the operation. Her condition is serious, although her family are very hopeful for her recovery.

Boy Bound Over For Using Gun

Chester Chrisman, a young man from the New Martinsburg vicinity is confined in the county jail under $200 bond, charged with carrying concealed weapons, and having been bound over from Justice J. D. Fealey's court, of Jasper township.

The boy is charged with wilfully killing a watch dog owned by Wallace Buegar, west of New Martinsburg. According to the claim from the neighborhood, the dog was not vicious and there was no just reason for the animal being shot. Mr. Buegar filed an affidavit against the lad charging him with carrying concealed weapons and he was bound over accordingly.

Chrisman is the son of George Chrisman, and is about 16 years of age. He is said to be a boy of very good habits.

Fire Department Makes Another Run

About one o'clock Friday afternoon the fire department made a run to the extreme end of Temple street in Blueville, to the residence of Chas. Keaton, where a small blaze in the kitchen caused an alarm to be turned in.

As the fire had not gained much foothold it was extinguished with buckets of water before the department reached the scene. Sparks from a flue are supposed to have started the blaze. The damage was very small.

AT THE EMPIRE.

The musical play by DeKoven and Herbert, entitled "The Beauty Spot," which appears at the Empire tonight is said to be a production above the average, its music being of a higher order bordering closely on the comic opera style.

The cast is headed by that sterling actor and comedian, Frank Deshon, formerly star of "Miss Bob White" and "The Office Boy", whose strength lines not altogether in the material furnished him by the authors but what he interjects into the piece from his own personality. His role of the giddy old Russian General is characteristic, his makeup being highly ludicrous and mirth-provoking.

Mr. Deshon is ably supported by a company of well known people. The two scenes are said to be handsome, unique in idea and beautiful to the eye.

Will Devote Entire Time to Architecture

Mr. J. H. Hicks, the local architect who for the last four years has been connected with J. S. Williams in the business of architects and builders of Washington C. H., announces that having severed his connections with Mr. Williams, he is now devoting his entire time to the architectural profession as he did before coming to Washington C. H. and is now in a position to give his clients his unbiased opinion and undivided attention.

The architectural profession is a distinct business and should not in any way be connected with the building business.

Mr. Hicks will continue his business in the same location as before in the Dennis building across Main St. from the Court House, and will be glad to welcome his old friends as well as new ones there.

WAR'S BLOODY SCENES ARE PASSING.

Consider the world situation today. We see that it has advanced in every respect. Great progress in modern science, increased facilities for intercommunication, triumphs of aerial and submarine navigation, have accomplished what was once thought impossible. Selfishness has had its baneful effects on the imagination of the multitude, the call of inspiration, and the thrill of oratory. Although in the last chapter of political evolution, we are only on the threshold of marvelous developments.

History has been defined as the bath of blood. The Iliad is the recital of how men killed men. This story flooded the Greek mind, whose history is a panorama of jingoism and imperialism, was merely for the sake of war. When Greece was conquered by Rome her soldiers were given for reward the kingdom of Epirus. On the eve of Philippi, Brutus offered his soldiers Sparta and Thessalonica if they won the fight. The honors of war make it fascinating, and its irrationality is not considered. We inherit this war-like spirit, and for most of the heroism possessed we thank this cruel history. The popular imagination is fattened on the thoughts of war.

In the past few years innumerable writers have been showing the bestial side of military service. Authorities in the army and navy of the United States and England have repeated without ceasing, "Arm solely for peace." "Peace" in the military mouths today is the synonym for "war expected." General Lee stated that "readiness for war is the essence of nationality, and ability in it is the supreme measure of the health of nations." What an absurdity it is that nations who visit and fellowship together should for any cause seek each other's blood.

Let us for one moment turn our attention to the enormous cost of war. The money spent on militarism by this republic amounts to $16,567,677,135 which exceeds by $3,000,000,000 the entire gold production of the whole world since the discovery of America. In the past thirty-seven years armed peace alone in Europe has cost $111,000,000,000, approximately the value of all the resources of the United States. These figures are so large that mortal minds cannot conceive of them.

But mere figures do not tell it all. The price of war can never be paid in gold. If one desires to see the actual price of war, let him step upon the battlefield and see the ruin in progress. When the conflict is over, look upon the faces upturned to the moonlight, and you will know something of war. And yet you have seen but little. If you could enter the wasted homes and see the broken hearts that war has made; if you could go to the almshouses and orphan's homes and see the thousands suffering; if you could but give of your own life's treasure then you might know the real cost of war.

The eyes of the world are being opened to the fact that the cost of war is far too great in money and men, in suffering and in sacrifice. It has been made an anachronism by ties of commerce and industry, greater humanitarianism and intellectuality.

Besides this, it is all morally wrong and no better words will convey the real meaning than the language of Victor Hugo when he said, "Peace is the virtue and war the crime of civilization." General Sherman expressed it well when he said, "War is hell."

Yet the world is gradually moving from its old tracks. Nations are becoming fraternized. They all aim at one single goal—the desired brotherhood of man, when nations become better acquainted, when the great world powers form a pact of peace, and erect a barrier against war.

After such is established, what is left? Armaments on land, on sea and in the air. Centuries ago when jury trial supplanted ordeals, wagers of battle, and duels; the medieval castles became picturesque ruins; armor and sword found their way to the museum. And today cannot a similar thing take place? Yet we must not cry, "Disarm! Disarm!" without supplying a substitute for the present armaments. People have gone so long in this old channel that you cannot expect them to give it up until they know of something with a better end and less expense of blood and treasure.

The best method of securing disarmament is the establishment of an international court. These international issues must be settled, and if we do not have arbitration we shall have war. If one asserts for a moment the impossibility of permanent peace let him consider those examples that are tending toward it. The Alabama controversy was settled by the Geneva arbitration, the seals controversy by the Paris Tribunal, the Newfoundland Fisheries controversies by the Hague Tribunal. These three things have done more for the cause of peace than anything else in history.

In this great movement the United States is the leader, standing unique among nations. Her history and progress have attracted the attention of the world. She has a calm conviction and a clear vision of her destiny. With less than 150 years of history she rivals the oldest and strongest nations. She ranks high in the line of military equipment.

Poetry—Today

CHARLES DICKENS

(1812-1870.)

From time to time men's hearts grow sad—

The night holds earnest of no day
November's grief forgets the glad
Warm promise of the coming May
God waits such moments for the birth
Of some great joyous spirit who
Will kindle laughter through the earth
And light the vestal fires anew.

From time to time men's hearts grow hard—

The brotherhood of man's forgot.
The pathos of the children scarred
By want and crime, their bitter lot
At such an hour God sends to men
A prophet who, with Moses blow,
Cleaves wide the hardened hearts,
and then
Doth heal them by the tears that flow.

A hundred years their snows have worn,

A hundred summer suns have kissed

The hills since thou, O Boz, wast born.

Thou kindly-prophet-humorist

To us who live today it seems

Men must have cried, "Away with fears!"

There's come the dreamer of fair dreams.

The king of laughter and of tears!"

Hearst Accuses Hetty

Editor Says Mrs. Green Tried to Extort Money.

New York, Feb. 9.—An allegation that Mrs. Hetty Green had attempted to extort money from William R. Hearst was made before Supreme Court Justice Davis by C. M. Bovee, counsel for Hearst and for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in connection with a motion to compel Mrs. Green to accept $275,000 in payment of a mortgage with interest up to last Monday and cancel the mortgage.

The lawyer said that when Hearst's representatives went to Mrs. Green's office to pay off the mortgage "Mrs. Green slammed the door in their faces and called for the police." Mrs. Green, Mr. Bovee said, demanded additional interest for 30 days, amounting to $1,146.

CHAPTER V.

The Encounter.

Betty Malroy had ridden into the yard during the progress of the trial and when Yancy and Hannibal came from the house she beckoned the Scratch Hiller to her. "You are not going to lose your nephew, are you, Mr. Yancy?" she asked eagerly, when Yancy stood at her side. "No, ma'am." But his sense of elation was plainly tempered. "I am very glad. I rode out to the hill to say good-by to Hannibal and to you, but they said you were here and that the trial was today." Captain Murrell, with Crenshaw and the squire, came from the house, and Murrell's swarthy face lit up at sight of the girl. Yancy would have yielded his place, but Betty detained him. "Are you going away, ma'am?" he asked with concern. "Yes—to my home in west Tennessee—and a cloud crossed her smooth brow. "Why don't you ever come back, Betty?" asked Hannibal rather curiously. "Oh, I hope so, dear." She turned to Yancy. "I wonder you don't leave to Hill, Mr. Yancy. You could so easily go where Mr. Bladen would find you. Haven't you thought of this?" "That are a p'int," agreed Yancy. "Might I ask you what parts you specially recommend?" lifting his grave eyes to hers. "It would really be the sensible thing to do," said Betty. "I am sure you would like west Tennessee—they are a great hunter." Yancy smiled almost guiltily. "Mr. Yancy, if you should cross the mountains, remember I live near Memphis. Belle Plain is the name of the plantation—it's not hard to find; just don't forget—Belle Plain."

"I won't forget, and maybe you will see us there one of these days. Sho, I've seen mighty little of the world—about as far as a dog can trot in a couple of hours!"

Betty glanced toward the squire and Mr. Crenshaw. They were standing near the bars that gave entrance to the lane. Murrell had left them and was walking briskly down the road toward Crenshaw's store, where his horse was tied. She bent down and gave Yancy her slim white hand. "Good-by, Mr. Yancy—lift Hannibal so that I can kiss him!" Yancy swung the child aloft. "I think you are such a nice little boy, Hannibal—yo, mustn't forget me!" And touching her horse lightly with the whip she rode away at a gallop.

"She sho'ly is a lady!" said Yancy, staring after her. "And we mustn't forget Memphis or Belle Plain, New-y."

When Betty Malroy rode away from Squire Balaam's Murrell galloped after her. Presently she heard the beat of his horse's hoofs as he came pounding along the sandy road, and glanced back over her shoulder. With an exclamation of displeasure she reined in her horse. Murrell quickly gained a place at her side.

"I suppose Ferris is at the Barony?" he said, drawing his horse down to a walk.

"I believe he is," said Betty with a curt little air.

"May I ride with you?" he gave her a swift glance. She nodded indifferently and would have urged her horse into a gallop again, but he made a gesture of protest. "Don't—or I shall think you are still running away from me," he said with a short laugh.

"Where you at the trial?" she asked. "I am glad they didn't get Hannibal away from Yancy."

"Oh, Yancy will have his hands full with that later—so will Bladen," he added, significantly. He studied her out of those deeply sunken eyes of his in which no shadow of youth lingered, for men such as he reached their prime early, and it was a swiftly passing splendor. "Ferris tells me you are going to west Tennessee?" he said at length.

"Yes."

"I know your half-brother, Tom Ware—I know him very well."

"So you know Tom?" she observed, and frowned slightly. Tom was her guardian, and her memories of him were not satisfactory. A burly, unshaven man with a queer streak of meanness through his character.

"You've spent much of your time up north?" suggested Murrell.

"Four years. I've been at school, you know. That's where I met Judith Ferris."

"I hope you'll like west Tennessee. It's still a bit raw compared with what you've been accustomed to in the north. You haven't been back in all those four years?" Betty shook her head. "Nor seen Tom—nor any one from out yonder?" For some reason a little tinge of color had crept into Betty's cheeks. "Will you let me renew our acquaintance at Belle Plain? I shall be in west Tennessee before the summer is over; probably I shall leave here within a week," he said, bending toward her. His glance dwelt on her face and on the pliant lines of her figure, and his senses swam.

"I imagine you will be welcome at Belle Plain. You are Tom's friend," Murrell bit his lip, and then laughed as his mind conjured up a picture of the cherished Tom. Suddenly he reached out and rested his hand on hers.

"Betty—if I might think—" he began, but his tongue stumbled. His love-making was usually of a savage sort, but some quality in the girl held him in check. Betty drew away from him, an angry color on her cheeks.

and an angry light in her eyes. "Forgive me, Betty!" murmured Murrell, but his heart beat against his ribs, and passion sent its surges through him. "Don't you know what I'm trying to tell you?" he whispered. Betty gathered up her reins. "Not yet—" he cried, and again he rested a heavy hand on hers.

"Let me go—let me go!" cried Betty indignantly.

"No—not yet!" He urged his horse still nearer and gathered her close. "You've got to hear me. I've loved you since the first moment I rested my eyes on you—and, by God, you shall love me in return!" He felt her struggle to free herself from his grasp with a sense of savage triumph.

Bruce Carrington, on his way back to Fayetteville from the Forks, came about a turn in the road. Betty saw a tall, handsome fellow in the first flush of manhood; Carrington, an angry girl struggling in a man's grasp.

At sight of the new-comer, Murrell, with an oath, released Betty, who, striking her horse with the whip, galloped down the road toward the Barony. As she fled past Carrington she bent low in her saddle.

"Don't let him follow me!" she gasped, and Carrington, striding forward, caught Murrell's horse by the bit.

"Let go!" roared Murrell, and a murderous light shot from his eyes.

"I don't know but I should pull you out of that saddle and twist your neck!" said Carrington hotly. Murrell's face underwent a swift change.

"You're a bold fellow to force your way into a lover's quarrel," he said quietly. Carrington's arm dropped at his side. Perhaps, after all, it was that.

CHAPTER VI.

Betty Sets Out for Tennessee.

Bruce's first memories had to do with long nights when he perched beside his father on the cabin roof of their keel-boat and watched the stars or the blurred line of the shore where it lay against the sky, or the lights on other barges and rafts drifting as they were drifting, with their wheat and corn and whisky, to that common market at the river's mouth.

Bruce Carrington had seen the day of barge and raft reach its zenith, had heard the first steam packet's shrieking whistle, which sounded the death-knell of the ancient order, though the shifting of the trade was a slow matter and the glory of the old did not pass over to the new at once, but lingered still in mighty fleets of rafts and keel-boats and in the Homeric carousals of some ten thousand of the half-breed, half-alligator breed that nightly gathered in New Orleans.

After the reading of the warrant that morning, Charley Balaam had shown Carrington the road to the Forks, assuring him when they separated that with a little care and decent use of his eyes it would be possible to fetch up there and not pass plumb through the settlement without knowing where he was.

He was on his way to Fayetteville, where he intended to spend the night, and perhaps a day or two in looking around, when the meeting with Betty and Murrell occurred. The girl's face remained with him. It was a face he would like to see again.

He was still thinking of the girl when he ate his supper that night at Cleggett's Tavern. Later, in the bar, he engaged his host in idle gossip. He had met a gentleman and a lady on the road that day! he wondered, as he toyed with his glass, if it could have been the Ferrises? Mounted? Yes, mounted. Then it was Ferris and his wife—or it might have been Captain Murrell and Miss Malroy.

Miss Malroy did not live in that part of the country she was a friend of Mrs. Ferris, belonged in Kentucky or Tennessee, or somewhere out yonder—at any rate she was bringing her visit to an end, for Ferris had instructed him to reserve a place for her in the north-bound stage on the morrow.

Carrington suddenly remembered that he had thought of starting north in the morning himself.

The stage left at six, and as Carrington climbed to his seat the next morning Mr. Cleggett was advising the driver to look sharp when he came to the Barony road, as he was to pick up a party there. It was Carrington who looked sharp, and almost at the spot where he had seen Miss Malroy the day before he saw her again, with Ferris and Judith and a pile of luggage bestowed by the way-side. Betty did not observe him as the coach stopped, for she was intent on her farewells with her friends. There were hasty words of advice from Ferris, prolonged good-bys to Judith, tears—kisses—while a place was being made for her many boxes and trunks. Carrington gathered that she was going north to Washington;

CHAPTER V.

The Encounter.

Betty Malroy had ridden into the square yard during the progress of the trial and when Yancy and Hannibal came from the house she beckoned the Scratch Hiller to her.

"You are not going to lose your nephew, are you, Mr. Yancy?" she asked eagerly, when Yancy stood at her side.

"No, ma'am." But his sense of elation was plainly tempered.

"I am very glad. I rode out to the hill to say good-by to Hannibal and you, but they said you were here and that the trial was today."

Captain Murrell, with Crenshaw and the squire, came from the house, and Murrell's swarthy face lit up at sight of the girl. Yancy would have yielded his place, but Betty detained him.

"Are you going away, ma'am?" he asked with concern.

"Yes—to my home in west Tennessee—and a cloud crossed her smooth brow as she said:

"Will you ever come back, Betty?" asked Hannibal rather fully.

"Oh I hope so, dear." She turned to Yancy. "I wonder you don't leave me, Mr. Yancy. You could so easily go where Mr. Bladen would find you. Haven't you thought of this?"

"That are a p'int," agreed Yancy. "Might I ask you what parts are specially recommended?" lifting his eyes to hers.

"I would really be the sensible thing to do," said Betty. "I am sure you would like west Tennessee—they are a great hunter." Yancy smiled almost guiltily.

"Mr. Yancy, if you should cross the mountains, remember I live near Memphis. Belle Plaine is the name of this."

Don't Know but What I Should Pull Out of That Saddle and Twist my Neck.

the plantation—it's not hard to find; just don't forget—Belle Plaine."

"I won't forget, and mebbey you will see us there one of these days. Sho, I've seen mighty little of the world—about as far as a dog can trot in a couple of hours."

Betty glanced toward the squire and Mr. Crenshaw. They were standing near the bars that gave entrance to the lane. Murrell had left them and was walking briskly down the road toward Crenshaw's store, where his horse was tied. She bent down and gave Yancy her slim white hand.

"Good-by, Mr. Yancy—lift Hannibal so that I can kiss him!" Yancy swung the child aloft. "I think you are such a nice little boy, Hannibal—you mustn't forget me!" And touching her horse lightly with the whip she rode away at a gallop.

"She sho'ly is a lady!" said Yancy, staring after her. "And we mustn't forget Memphis or Belle Plaine, Nev-y."

that her final destination was some point either on the Ohio or Mississippi, and that her name was Betty. Then the door slammed and the stage was in motion again.

All through the morning they swung forward in the heat and dust and glare, and at midday rattled into the shaded main street of a sleepy village and drew up before the tavern where dinner was waiting them.

Betty saw Carrington when she took her seat, and gave a scarcely perceptible start of surprise. Then her face was flooded with a rich color. This was the man who saw her with Captain Murrell yesterday! There was a brief moment of irresolution and then she bowed coldly.

It was four days to Richmond. Four days of hot, dusty travel, four nights of uncomfortable cross-road stations, where Betty suffered sleepless nights and the unaccustomed pangs of early rising. She occasionally found herself wondering who Carrington was. She approved of the manner in which he conducted himself. She liked a man who could be unobtrusive.

The next morning he found himself seated opposite her at breakfast. He received another curt little nod, cool and distant, as he took his seat.

"You stop in Washington?" said Carrington.

Betty shook her head. "No, I am going on to Wheeling."

"You're fortunate in being so nearly home," he observed. "I'm going on to Memphis."

Betty exclaimed: "Why, I am going to Memphis, too!"

"Are you?" By canal to Cumberland, and then by stage over the National Road to Wheeling?

Betty nodded. "It makes one wish they'd finish their railroads, doesn't it? Do you suppose they'll ever get as far west as Memphis?" she said.

"They say it's going to be bad for the river trade when they're built on something besides paper," answered Carrington. "And I happen to be a flatboatman, Miss Malroy."

No more was said just then, for Betty became reserved and did not attempt to resume the conversation. A day later they rumbled into Washington, and as Betty descended from the coach Carrington stepped to her side.

"I suppose you'll stop here, Miss Malroy," he said, indicating the tavern before which the stage had come to a stand.

"Yes," said Betty briefly.

"If I can be of any service to you—" he began, with just a touch of awkwardness in his manner.

"No, I thank you, Mr. Carrington," said Betty quickly.

"Good night . . . good-by." He turned away, and Betty saw his tall form disappear in the twilight.

Believe That Enemies Have Murdered Preacher

Rev. Louis S. Fuller, Widely Known in This and Adjoining Counties, Has Not Been Located---Disappeared in Gallia.

Rev. Louis S. Fuller, of Bidwell, Gallia county, well known throughout Fayette county, has not been heard from since his disappearance last Sunday, and searching parties are still scouring the country for him.

Excitement still prevails, and a great many believe that some of the bitter enemies he made in the recent wet and dry campaign in Gallia county have kidnapped him or possibly murdered him. His friends have almost given up the hope of finding him alive.

Rev. Fuller was superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, Lexington division, and was an active worker in the cause of the dries. For this reason he made many dangerous enemies, and his close friends believe a trap was set for him. Others still hold to the belief that he was seized with illness and perished. He was last seen near Bidwell, walking toward his home Sunday afternoon. His wife and children have been visiting in Lexington, Ky.

Rev. Fuller is 55 years of age and six feet in height. He is the father of several grown sons. For five years he was pastor of the Clarksburg circuit over the line in Ross county, preaching at Brown's Chapel, Dry Run and Asbury. He has lectured and preached at New Holland, this city, and other points in the county.

FIRST LA GRIPPE, THEN BRONCHITIS.

Such was the case with Mrs. W. S. Bailey, McCreary, Ky. "My wife was taken down with a severe attack of la grippe, which run into bronchitis. She coughed as though she had consumption and could not sleep at night. The Doctor's medicine gave her no relief and I was advised to try Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The first bottle gave her so much relief that she continued using it and three bottles effected a permanent cure." Mr. W. S. Bailey says he is prepared to answer all inquiries promptly. Blackmer & Tanquary.

His many warm friends throughout this part of the country are very anxious over his mysterious disappearance. His friends from various parts of the United States are flocking to Gallia county to assist in the search.

An old case which has been dragging through the courts of Ross county for a great many years came to a close this week when the Supreme court finally affirmed the lower courts and the will of Malinda Colwell, deceased, a former resident of Clarksburg, stands as it was originally drawn.

The suit was that of Jacob L. Jamison of this city vs. Mary F. WASHINGTON C. H. PEOPLE WELL PLEASED WITH S. E. DAVIS, AN EXPERT DYNALITER.

and the expert operator, S. E. DAVIS, proves to be well pleasing to the citizens of Washington Court House who visit the ruins caused by the recent fire, and witness the explosions made by DYNALITE and operated by Mr. Davis.

The carefulness with which Mr. Davis gauges the amount for each blast proves most effective, and is less dangerous and expensive, besides saving much time and hard labor in removing the frozen debris.

The people compliment Mr. Davis very much for his work, and feel safe in recommending him to any one who is in need of blasting done—such as Stumps, Rocks, Trees, etc.

Mr. Davis is Also Agent For DYNALITE, and can fill orders on short notice

Same Success Here As In Europe

PHYSICIANS DELIGHTED BY WHAT NEW TONIC, TONA VITA, HAS DONE.

Tired out, run-down half sick people are not so numerous as they were a year ago. "Tona Vita" the great modern tonic has proved as successful in the United States as in Europe, and many thousands of Americans have been built up and restored to health by this medicine.

The physicians who introduced "Tona Vita" in this country are enthusiastic over the remarkable success of the medicine, and those who have been restored to health are also glad to tell what their experience has been. Mrs. Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., a trained nurse for sixteen years and a graduate of Bellevue hospital, New York City, says:

"I have had no opportunity to take sufficient rest and during the past year this has told on me. My nerves began to trouble me. I have not been sleeping well and my appetite and digestion were not as they should be. I tired easily and did not have the vitality to withstand a hard day's work as formerly. This tonic 'Tona Vita' was recommended to me and I decided to give it a test. I have been greatly benefited in health and strength by this medicine. I sincerely believe the tonic to be highly meritorious judging from my own experience."

Do you lack strength and vitality? Do you take cold easily and sleep poorly? Are you nervous and depressed? If so you are a sufferer from nervous debility and you should at once get a bottle of Tona Vita and see how quickly it will build you up.

Brown's Drug Store, corner Court and Fayette Sts., is the agent for Tona Vita in Washington C. H. Your money will be returned to you if you are dissatisfied with the tonic. The Approved Formula Co., Dayton, Ohio.

Worst Blocked Road In Fayette County

What is without doubt the worst snow-blocked road in Fayette county is the Bloomingburg and White Oak pike, from where it crosses the B. & O. railroad to the Jefferson school house, a distance of a mile and a half.

For a great distance along this road a board fence extends on the west side, offering an ideal place for the snow to pile up. The road had not been thoroughly cleared of the snow early in January, when the recent snow came and piled the road full of drifts from four to eight feet in height.

By hard work a narrow roadway has been shoveled through the huge masses of snow, but the road is not wide enough to permit the passage of a wagon or automobile, and as a consequence those passing that way are still compelled to travel through the fields.

HOW COLD AFFECTS THE KIDNEYS.

Avoid taking cold if your kidneys are sensitive. Cold congests the kidneys, throws too much work upon them, and weakens their action. Serious kidney trouble and even Bright's disease may result. Strengthen your kidneys, get rid of the pain and soreness, build them up by the timely use of Foley Kidney Pills. They will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more. Blackmer & Tanquary.

Delegate Jones On Harmon Speech

Regarding the attitude of Hon. Humphrey Jones, toward the sensational speech of Gov. Harmon before the Constitutional convention Thursday, the Cincinnati Times-Star says: "Jones of Fayette county, a Republican, characterized the address as a 'brave statement of principles progressive within the limits of reason.' He predicted that the effect would be in changing some of the doubtful delegates in the convention on the questions discussed."

A BALD-HEADED WOMAN Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses In Love and Marriage.

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disfigurement?

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet, right here in Washington, there are thousands of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have the remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles; that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial, and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Blackmer & Tanquary.

Was Arrested Ordered to Hike

At Dewitt, a young white man who has been under surveillance by the police for some time, was placed under arrest on suspicion of bootlegging, but the evidence proved not strong enough to convict, and Dewitt was turned loose with the command to leave town by midnight Saturday night or suffer arrest.

Dewitt was suspected of bootlegging because he was alleged to have received shipment of from one to ten gallons of booze each week, and it was believed this amount was a little more than his capacity.

Dewitt claimed that he had been securing the whiskey from the express office upon orders from other persons, but refused to divulge the names of the parties.

SICKLY CHILDREN

Made Strong and Rosy by Vinol—It Makes Them Eat.

Pale, sickly children usually have poor appetites. But you can get them to eating heartily in a few days by giving them Vinol, our delicious tonic, in teaspoonful doses. There is a book in every package that tells exactly what to do for such children.

"Seven years ago when my little girl was two years old," says Mrs. Carl Wittenberg of Brooklyn, "she was quite delicate and we gave her Vinol. It helped her so much that this spring when the doctor said she had weak lungs and needed blood, I knew Vinol would do her good again. I started her on it right away and it does her far more good than all the doctor's medicines. I feel like we are putting new life into our little girl when we give her Vinol."

Children like to take Vinol for the taste is pleasant, and we guarantee that Vinol will build them up and make them strong—if it does not, we give back your money. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H.

MARY HAND OF NEWPORT

Says: "My hair was falling out and my scalp covered with dandruff. Various hair tonics failed to have any effect until I tried Mrs. Mason's Old English Shampoo. It made my hair grow longer, thick and glossy." At Blackmer & Tanquary and other druggists, 25c.

Was Arrested Ordered to Hike

At Dewitt, a young white man who has been under surveillance by the police for some time, was placed under arrest on suspicion of bootlegging, but the evidence proved not strong enough to convict, and Dewitt was turned loose with the command to leave town by midnight Saturday night or suffer arrest.

Dewitt was suspected of bootlegging because he was alleged to have received shipment of from one to ten gallons of booze each week, and it was believed this amount was a little more than his capacity.

Dewitt claimed that he had been securing the whiskey from the express office upon orders from other persons, but refused to divulge the names of the parties.

THE NATIONAL VACUUM CLEANER

One of the Grandest Labor Saving, House Cleaning Machines

The National Vacuum Cleaner saves health and lengthens lives by removing from the homes all the deadly dust and disease germs. With the use of brooms the dust is raised in the air, finding its way to your lungs and settling on every wall, curtain and piece of furniture. The National Vacuum Cleaner collects all this dust and keeps your home in sanitary condition, making it safe for your little ones to play on the floor.

Gentlemen:

Having used your National Vacuum Cleaner I can heartily say it gives entire satisfaction and does all you represent it to do.

Mrs. James H. Allen,
231 N. Main St., City.

The Herald Pub. Co.,
Premium Department.
Gentlemen:

I can endorse the National Vacuum Cleaner. It is the best proposition on the market today in an article of that kind. It works perfectly and is a constant source of comfort for a housekeeper.

Mrs. O. D. Marchant,
West Elm St., City.

The Herald Pub. Co.,
Premium Department.
Gentlemen:

You can state that I am entirely satisfied with the National Vacuum Cleaner and that I can recommend it to my friends.

Mrs. A. L. Walters,
217 W. Market St., City.

Some Good Points

Weight only 4½ pounds and can be operated with either right or left hand.

Has patented flexible nozzle. Held at any height it works satisfactorily.

Has a stronger suction than other Cleaners and gets not only the SURFACE dirt, but also the dirt that is IN and BENEATH the floor covering.

It takes only ONE person to handle this machine and it is easier to operate than any other Cleaner.

A child can operate it.

Think how the wear and tear of your furniture and curtains will be saved by not having dust in your carpets. Use this Cleaner and have a sanitary home.

Removes all disease germs from the carpets that are brought into the house on the shoe.

Absolute cleanliness if you use this Vacuum Cleaner.
